Schedule Fall 2020

September 8-Nancy Bell, "Ornamental Grasses" - Grasses are a growing trend in landscaping. They are tough, drought-tolerant plants that add a visual appeal from summer through winter with their attractive leaves and flower heads.

September 15-Ron Simpson, Gardening in a Changing Climate- As climate change occurs, our gardening practices must adapt. With an increasingly erratic environment, find out what to expect and what you can do about it.

September 22-waiting for date confirmation tree talk

September 29-Jerry Hapka, “15 Gardens within an hour’s drive- Have you visited them all?” Greater Philadelphia is our nation’s garden capital. There are 30 gardens within a 30 mile range. He will share highlights and information about some of the closer ones plus a few of his favorites.

October 6-Plant Share

October 13-Hanna, “All About Apples”

October 20-Jeff Chambers, Osher Instructor, “Water is Important in Gardening”- Water is essential to the fine balance of elements in our landscapes and how we manage it makes a difference that can upset that balance and jeopardize the health of our environment and the beauty of our landscape.

October 27- Botanical Illustrations?

November 3-Election Day. No class. Don’t Forget to Vote!

November 10-Weather Make-up Day or Show and Tell

November 17-Speaker from Mt. Cuba or Master Gardeners
November 24-Thanksgiving Week-DVD “Squirrel Wars” An old favorite-learn how to keep those pesky critters away from your bird feeders or just watch to have a good laugh.

December 1-Barb & Bill Bareford, “History of Garden Postcards”, Before cell phones, TV or color photography, postcards were a way for tourists to remember what they saw as well as an important advertising tool.

December 8-Ann Hapka, “Flowering Plants to Brighten Our Winter”—Poinsettia, Amaryllis, Streptocarpus, African Violets, Citrus Trees, Orchids, Clivia, Hibiscus, Mother of Thousands and even AeroGardens can provide a splash of color to make our homes cheerful during the dark winter months.