From 63 BCE to 313 CE the Roman Empire exercised its imperial domination over Judea supplying the context for the end of Second Temple Judaism and the government based upon it and the development of the Christian Scriptures (Gospels and Epistles). Here are the foundations for two of the world’s enduring religions: Christianity and Rabbinic Judaism. Explore the historic events, along with the conflicting values of Rome and Judea, the nature of oppression, and the residual impact of their epic clash.