

Women in the American Revolution

Course Content

- Introduction:
Brief description of life in Colonial America leading up to the Revolution.
Description of roles women assumed as the war began and progressed including soldier, nurse, spy, advisor, and First Lady.
- Women on the battlefield.
- Women behind enemy lines serving as spies and couriers.
- The Washingtons. Mary Ball Washington and Martha Washington. How did George Washington's mother and wife influence this Founding Father?
- Abigail Adams and her influence on John Adams and the American Revolution.

Content is subject to change