

The first five week writing course will include several forms of creative nonfiction writing, including memoirs, personal essays and journalism.