

FOOD IN FILM

In this class we will watch a different movie each week where food is central to the plot or is an element that drives the characters. We will examine how food and culture intersect and how one often drives the other. The films I have chosen reflect several cultures and time periods. Most will be presented in English, and some will have subtitles.

At the beginning of each class, there will be an introduction of the film, including critical and popular reviews.

After each showing there will be an opportunity for questions and discussion.

A complete list of the films will be provided at the beginning of the course.
