History of Doo-Wop

Course category: (G) History

Instructor: Glenn Rill

Learn the history of a great music genre -- Doo-Wop. The Doo-Wop style had a great run, originating gradually in the 1940's and peaking in the 1960's. How did it form and become popular? What happened to it? Come join us to listen to the great performers who will put a smile on your face.

Class will be taught both in a Lewes classroom and available online at the same time. We plan to record each class so that students can still see the video if unable to attend during class.

During the 1940's a few groups started to develop a new style, which evolved step-by-step until it became the Doo Wop style many of us loved to hear.

By the end of this course, you will be able to tell someone exactly what made a recording to be "Doo-Wop" or something else.
